

Week 14 - I wish I had a time machine.

You know, Casey... told me what happened...

with the girl.

I wish I had a (1)_____ machine.

I would go back in time and never ask her out and also maybe visit the Middle Ages because...
jousting.

Look, I don't know about some of that stuff you're into,
but girls I know about, okay? And they're tough.

I'm (2)_____ of you for putting yourself out there.

I should never go on another date. I should just stay away from girls.

Sam, look, you got some stuff to figure out, but you will.

You're a good guy.

You're sensitive, and you're funny,
and the woman who ends up with you will be (3)_____.

You want to marry your best friend.

Edison?

No.

Not your turtle, Sam.

You said my best friend. He's my best friend.

I just...

I meant you want to be with someone who appreciates you for what you are.

You know, who loves all the little (4)_____ things about you...
who gets you.

Penguins mate for life, you know?

Yeah?

Well, good for them.

So, how are you feeling now? Still ready to give up on dating?

I don't know. My dad said to find someone who appreciates me for what I am, which is a (5)_____.

We talked a lot.

Glad to hear it.

And that makes sense. You're easy to talk to.

Yeah.

You're easy to talk to, too,

which is good 'cause, otherwise, you'd go broke.

When a (6)_____ gentoo penguin chooses a mate,

he makes an offering.

He finds a pebble,

often taking the time to find the smoothest one,

and presents it to the female.

I'm a (7)_____, so it would be weird to offer a pebble.

Julia.

I've decided I want to give you my brain. Really?

After I die.

Oh, Sam, that's so great.

You're gonna help so many people.

Good smile.

It's not (8)_____ at all.

I've been practicing.

Yeah, I can tell.

If the female places the pebble in her nest,

she accepts him as a mate.

And as you already know, penguins mate for life.

creepy human lucky male odd proud time weirdo

-----Key-----

Week 14 - I wish I had a time machine.

You know, Casey... told me what happened...

with the girl.

I wish I had a time machine.

I would go back in time and never ask her out and also maybe visit the Middle Ages because...

jousting.

Look, I don't know about some of that stuff you're into,

but girls I know about, okay? And they're tough.

I'm proud of you for putting yourself out there.

I should never go on another date. I should just stay away from girls.

Sam, look, you got some stuff to figure out, but you will.

You're a good guy.

You're sensitive, and you're funny,

and the woman who ends up with you will be lucky.

You want to marry your best friend.

Edison?

No.

Not your turtle, Sam.

You said my best friend. He's my best friend.

I just...

I meant you want to be with someone who appreciates you for what you are.

You know, who loves all the little odd things about you...

who gets you.

Penguins mate for life, you know?

Yeah?

Well, good for them.

So, how are you feeling now? Still ready to give up on dating?

I don't know. My dad said to find someone who appreciates me for what I am, which is a weirdo.

We talked a lot.

Glad to hear it.

And that makes sense. You're easy to talk to.

Yeah.

You're easy to talk to, too,

which is good 'cause, otherwise, you'd go broke.

When a male gentoo penguin chooses a mate,

he makes an offering.

He finds a pebble,

often taking the time to find the smoothest one,

and presents it to the female.

I'm a human, so it would be weird to offer a pebble.

Julia.

I've decided I want to give you my brain. Really?

After I die.

Oh, Sam, that's so great.

You're gonna help so many people.

Good smile.

It's not creepy at all.

I've been practicing.

Yeah, I can tell.

If the female places the pebble in her nest,

she accepts him as a mate.

And as you already know, penguins mate for life.